

Internal Revenue Code Section 415(b) Fact Sheet

Internal Revenue Code Section 415(b) – Defined Benefit Dollar Limit

Internal Revenue Code (IRC) Section 415(b) limits an individual's pension benefit amount. An individual's pension benefit amount is limited to the lesser of the OPERS benefit calculation or the IRC 415(b) limit. Only the portion of the pension benefit amount attributable to employer contributions as well as picked up employee contributions is compared to the limits under IRC 415(b).

The IRC 415(b) limit affecting public employees is the Dollar Limit. The Dollar Limit for 2020 is $230,000. Under the Dollar Limit, which is adjusted based on age, the portion of the benefit amount attributable to employer contributions and picked up employee contributions may not exceed the dollar amounts for 2020, shown on the next page.

Only a small number of OPERS members are affected by the IRC 415(b) limit, which is indexed annually. Please contact OPERS for a determination of how IRC 415(b) may affect your retirement benefit.

For members impacted by the limit, OPERS has received approval from the Internal Revenue Service for its qualified excess benefit arrangement (QEBA). The QEBA permits payment of the portion of the OPERS pension benefit amount that exceeds the IRC 415(b) limit.

Internal Revenue Code Section 401(a)(17) – Compensation Limit

There is also a Federal limitation on compensation. The compensation limit (established by IRC section 401(a)(17)) is the amount beyond which no further retirement contributions may be deducted from an employee's earnable salary for a given year. This limit applies to all OPERS members, regardless of their retirement plan enrollment.

The 2020 compensation limits are:

$285,000 for employees or elected officials establishing OPERS membership on or after Jan. 1, 1994.

$425,000 for employees or elected officials establishing OPERS membership prior to Jan. 1, 1994. This limit is applied regardless of whether there has been a break in service or an account refund for previous service.

These limits are indexed annually.
