

OPERS Offering New Seminar for Your Employees

WHO SHOULD READ THIS NOTICE

Human Resource Professionals and any employer contact assisting employees with benefits.

SITUATION OVERVIEW

OPERS remains committed to providing quality education to both our employers and their employees.

New Seminar for Your Employees – Beginning in May, we'll be offering a new, interactive workshop called, "Bridging the Gap to Financial Wellness." The goal of this workshop is to help your employees assess their financial wellness, review their current spending habits and estimate their retirement income so they can identify the "gap" between what they will have in retirement and what they will need. We also will show attendees ways they can close their gap and save more for retirement. In the future we will be incorporating education about budgeting, managing debt, retirement savings, borrowing and Social Security.

Employer Education – OPERS also offers a number of educational webinars for our employers. Topics range from defining earnable salary to submitting non-contributing lists. The complete list of webinars and registration is available online at www.opers.org/employers/seminars.

ACTION REQUIRED

Help us promote our new seminar. Look for an email from OPERS detailing the seminars that will be held in your area. We'll also include a flyer you can distribute to your employees with the seminar information.
